

The diagram shows a vertical rectangular layout. It is bounded by a thin orange line (the outer edge) and a thin blue line (the safety line). Inside the blue line, there is a red line representing the cut line. Two arrows at the top point from the red line towards the top corners of the orange border. Two arrows at the bottom point from the blue line towards the bottom corners of the orange border. Text is centered within the layout, explaining the lines and providing dimensions.
