

The diagram shows a rectangular print layout with a light blue background. It features three vertical lines: a red line on the left, a blue line in the center, and a green line on the right. A horizontal blue line with arrows at both ends crosses the entire width of the page. Two diagonal grey lines with arrows at the top corners point towards the red line. A horizontal grey line with arrows at both ends is positioned between the blue and green lines. Text labels in various colors (red, blue, green, and grey) explain the function of each line and provide dimensions.
